South Bali With Uluwatu Temple And GWK Visit - Customisable with 2 add ons

Proceed for a trip to the most southern tip of the island: Uluwatu temple hanging on a cliff over a 100 meter sheer drop to the ocean. On the way back a short stop at the famous Kuta beach to watch the sunset.

Garuda Wisnu Kencana statues lie in a 60-hectare area surrounded by gigantic limestone. The GWK statues that once were an impending landmark for a long time now are finished. The original plan was to build a 120-meter tall statue. Its location also has the best spot for city sightseeing. From the top of Ungasan cliff, visitors will get a glimpse of the city landscape and the radiant sea view.

It's not exaggerating to say that GWK Cultural Park is a one-stop destination. Because here tourists could watch several performances in one place. It's common to watch dance shows in tourist spots in Bali. Like Uluwatu temple has a Kecak fire dance show before sunset. But in Garuda Wisnu Kencana Cultural Park, there are different dance shows and performances held every day. From traditional Balinese dance, barong dance. And the most theatrical show perform in Amphitheater is the Garuda Wisnu ballet. To close the evening, GWK even does Kecak dance too
